Youth Drug, Alcohol Usage in Slight Decline

The use of alcohol, tobacco, marijuana and drugs by junior high school and high school students in San Mateo County is declining slightly, according to an annual study of student usage by the county's Health and Welfare Department.

However, the decline cannot be attributed to educational processes or police action, according to Kenneth Graham, an administrator with the San Mateo Union High School District and affiliated with the survey for each of its eight years.

He and Lillian Blackford, a biostatistician for the county, said that the statistics reflect a "levelling off" or a "saturation" of use in several categories.

"Although there is evidence of the drug epidemic subsiding, the levels are still disturbingly high," said Mrs. Blackford. "This is one of the most hopeful findings that we've been able to report."

The survey of 28,000-plus students does not pinpoint the percentage of use at various schools or sections of the county.

"Marijuana usage for the first time appears to be leveling off," Mrs. Blackford said.

Among the findings:

• The percentage of students having an alcoholic drink during the year was 86.3, up .2 per cent. However, the percentage of use is 10 or more times decreased from 54.5 to 54.3, and the percentage of use 50 or more times was 27.5, compared with 29.2 in 1974.

• The kind of beverage students are drinking appears to be changing, Mrs. Blackford said. She said in 1973 "pop" wines were popular; in 1974 ales and beer topped the list. This year, there's jore interest in hard liquor, especially "Tequila Sunrises," she said.

Tobacco usage also reflected a slight increase for smoking less than 10 times (58.9 per cent compared to 58.5), but the percentage of smokers 10 or more times declined from 36.5 per cent to 36 per cent, while those smoking 50 or more times averaged 26.8 per cent, down eight-tenths of one per cent.

The pattern of drug usage is shifting, according to Graham. He said that cocaine — which is not measured by the survey — is the new "king of the drugs." Another popular drug not measured is hashish oil, he said.

Students smoking marijuana fewer than 10 times declined from 55.5 per cent to 55 per cent, while those smoking the weed from 10 to 50 times decreased by the same margin to 36.0 per cent and students using it more than 50 times decreased from 27.6 to 26.8 per cent.

"Like alcohol, this is the first year in which any decided change has occurred, and it would be unsafe to make any firm prediction that marijuana usage rates will drop by 1976," the survey stated. "However, the odds are much better than they were last year."

Drops also were registered in the frequency of usage of amphetamines, barbiturates, heroin and LSD.

Those popping barbiturates 10 or more times decreased from 3.7 per cent to 3.4, while those using them 50 or more times stayed level at 1.4. Amphetamine use 10 or more occasions dropped from 7.3 to 6.9 per cent, while its usage 50 or more times dropped from 3.1 to 2.9 per cent.

Heroin usage at any time dropped from 3.4 to 3.0 per cent, while the percentage of use 10 or more times stayed at 1.3 per cent.

Police Search Continues

Saleswoman Missing; DC Seeks 'Slim Man'

The search for pretty, brown-haired Ruth T. Wilhelmsen has now focused on a "very slim" white man, 6 feet 2 inches tall, with shoulder-length brown hair and driving an orange Porsche.

Police suspect the 21-year-old department store sales clerk is the victim of foul play and have asked the public to come forward with any information it might have on the incident.

About 4:30 p.m. Sunday, the last time acquaintances saw her, Miss Wilhelmsen was walking across the north parking lot of Macy's-Serramonte, where she is employed.

A tall man was seen assaulting and dragging her into a sportscar.

A young couple driving through the parking lot saw the incident and reported it to Macy's Auto Center employe Paul Navarro, who called police.

When officers arrived the Porsche involved in the incident and the two witnesses had left the area.

Since reports of the incident Monday, police have been in contact with the unidentified witnesses.

Each gave police the same description of the wanted man.

At 7:30 p.m. Sunday, when Miss Wilhelmsen failed to return home to attend a party for an uncle returning to Norway, her mother and boyfriend, Jeff Coyne, took separate cars and drove different routes to the Serramonte Shopping Center — routes Miss Wilhelmsen might travel.

In the parking lot, Mrs. Nils Wilhelmsen and Coyne, who met the missing girl at a church both attend on a regular basis, found Miss Wilhelmsen's car.

Ruth Wilhelmsden

Inside was her pocketbook with about $200 in cash and her key chain.

A short distance from the parked car, two young boys found one of the girl's earrings.

Detective Dennis Prator said the possible kidnap victim's car was taken to police headquarters where technicians went over it for clues to the puzzling disappearance.

Prator did not say whether the car search was productive.

Miss Wilhelmsen, of San Francisco, has been attending summer school at City College in San Francisco and has worked for Macy's Serramonte store as a salesperson for the past year.

More US Funds for Jeff El

The Jefferson Elementary School District was expected to receive some $700,000 in federal funds for its Emergency School Aid Act programs this week.

If funded, the amount would be some $60,000 less than the JESD received for the program last year.

It was this program which sparked a controversy within the district.

Some JESD trustees alleged an application for the ESAA funds had been "modified" without permission of the school board in order to qualify the district for funding.

The matter is still under investigation.

For a while it was thought this investigation might jeopardize future funding of the program, a JESD spokesman said.

However, the district turned back $200,000 in ESAA monies last year when some parts of the program were funded too late, Trustee Dorothy Adams explained.

ESAA programs are aimed at minority children who fall behind in certain educational areas and also for multi-cultural programs.

Cable TV Extention Decision in 2 Weeks

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A decision on whether to grant Vista Grande Cablevision Company another time extension for completion of their system in Daly City will be made in two weeks.

Monday, the city council voted, 3-1, with one abstention, to leave the public hearing open for more input and to postpone any decision on the future of the franchise until July 14.

Vista Grande asked the city for a time extension past the June 30, 1975 deadline to complete the system.

Cablevision subscribers were about evenly divided in their opinion of the system at the Monday hearing into the extension request.

Residents in the west of Skyline area voiced complaints about poor and spotty reception and alleged bad service.

It took anywhere from three minutes to half a day for Acting Community Services Director Don Fleming to reach the company with complaints, he told the council.

Bill Brazel, official of Vista Grande's parent company, Telecommunications Inc., of Denver, Colo., said he would have a survey conducted of the phone capabilities to see what is the tie up.

Meanwhile, residents in the Hillside-Market street area of the city said their reception and service had much improved since last year's meeting.

John Mitchell, of Niantic Ave., said he had conducted a survey of 80 of his neighbor cablevision subscribers in an effort to get their opinions on service and reception.

Of the number surveyed, 69 reported better service and reception, according to Mitchell.

In all areas where the earlier "Discade" cable service has been converted to a standard type cable system, complaints have markedly diminished, Brazel said.

Frank Lorretta, spokesman for a group of Hillside Blvd. homeowners, said only one out of 10 persons in his area still had complaints about Vista Grande's service and reception.

But the other nine "are happy now," Lorretta said.

The Palisades area of the city still is the company's big reception headache, Vista Grande officials admitted.

They hoped to have this matter cleared up by installing a new "super trunk" line from their new receiving-transmitting tower atop San Bruno Mountain to the west of Skyline area homes within six to nine months, it was explained.

One resident-subscriber said his reception is so bad in the Palisades area that "one night when I finally got a picture I called and complimented (Vista Grande)."

A resident of the Hillside area, who has watched television for several hours a day recently because of an injured leg, said "it's better — but still bad."

Alleged poor reception and bad service were only two of the complaints the council heard.

Other allegations included:

• Failure of the company to provide a studio for program originization.

• Failure to hook up schools within Daly City.

• Failure to complete a citywide system as agreed upon between the city and CATV.

In all, City Attorney Albert Polonsky listed nine concerns of the city in the cablevision matter.

Indications were the council would grant the franchise holder an extension of time.

Mayor Kyriakis said that the city needs is an agreement between the cable

A Philosophy on Digging Trenches in Daly City

The subject was the laying of cable television lines underground in Daly City.

City councilmen wanted to know why the Vista Grande Cablevision Co. wasn't taking advantage of trenches dug by utility companies, instead of opening new trenches.

It often is cheaper for the firm to dig its own trenches, the council was told. To which City Atty. Albert Polonsky replied:

"We don't like streets to be torn up twice, we like them to be torn up once."

Possible DC Employe Strike Averted

8 Per Cent Pay Hike

Daly City employes were given an 8.85 per cent across-the-board pay hike by the City Council at a special meeting Monday afternoon.

The eleventh hour settlement with employe groups headed off the possibility of employes walking off the job as they did several years ago when last minute pay negotiations reached an impasse.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis and Councilman Paul Hupf praised the efforts of both the city staff and employe representatives in reaching agreement on the increases.

Talks had been halted temporarily last month when City Atty. Albert Polonsky received notification that the State Fair Employments Practices Commission was investigating possible discrimination charges filed against the city.

According to the charges, Daly City discriminated in the hiring and pay of women employes.

Last week, the council lopped off some $250,000 from the budget recommended by City Mgr. David Rowe.

The money was "saved" by cutting out seven proposed city jobs, including three policemen and three firemen.

Only one new job — that of an electrical maintenance man — was approved by the council.

According to Rowe, the maintenance man will be responsible for the upkeep of streetlights being transferred from PG&E to the city.

Money saved in this transfer will pay the maintenance man's salary, Rowe said.

Both Rowe and Polonsky received 7.5 per cent pay hikes this year.

Total Daly City budget for 1975-76 is now set at $9.58 million, it was reported.

Meanwhile, the City Council, acting out its role as the city's Redevelopment Agency Board, approved a budget of $215,224 for fiscal year 1975-76.

Following the 4 p.m. Redevelopment Agency meeting, the City Council in special session approved a loan and transfer of funds from the city to the agency.

San Bruno Mt. Plan Outlined

By BOB HEMINGWAY

"This is the most emotion-packed issue in this county since I've been on the commission."

So commented Fred Cohen, chairman of the San Mateo County Planning Commission, Wednesday as the commission began a series of hearings on proposed amendments to the County General Plan which would permit development of a residential community on San Bruno Mountain.

Robert L. Follett, general manager for Visitacion Associates, said the plan proposed by his firm involves only 20 per cent of the now vacant land in the vicinity of San Bruno Mountain, leaving 80 per cent undeveloped or in parks, open space or greenbelts.

He noted that when the development application originally was filed with the county in December, 1973, the plan proposed 12,500 residential units. However, prolonged review has reduced that figure to 7,655, which he estimates will accommodate 18,500 persons.

Follett cited the integrity of the developers, an equal joint venture of subsidiaries of AMFAC and Foremost-McKesson. He said both corporations have extensive backgrounds in high quality land development and the creation of new communities.

"Both," he said, are corporate leaders in recognizing and accepting social and environmental responsibilities."

Follett expressed his awareness of the dilemma facing the Planning Commission.

"A 'no' vote can be changed next year or 10 years from now," he stated. "A 'yes' vote is a commitment to something that can't be reversed.

"But the easy 'no' vote presents some considerable hazards. History is not kind to leaders who have side-stepped important questions and failed to act when action was needed.

"The problems of housing, unemployment and high taxes will be around to haunt local officials long after environmental activists have turned their attention elsewhere or settled back to savor their victory."

Follett charged that the Citizens Impact Report in response to the environmental impact report on the proposed project contains page after page of statements made on totally inaccurate grounds, "which means that the opposition either didn't understand the EIR or they are deliberately distorting facts to support their case."

"To my knowledge," Follett said, "his is the most comprehensive environmental impact report ever prepared for a residential development."

In its lengthy report, the county planning staff notes that approximately one-

Second Hearing

The San Mateo County Planning Commission will conduct the second in a series of public hearings on the proposed Crocker Hills (San Bruno Mountain) development at the Daly City War Memorial Building tonight starting at 7:30 p.m.

At this hearing the developer of the property, Visitacion Associates, and its consultants team will present detailed information on the development plan.

The War Memorial Buiding is at 6655 Mission St., Daly City.

More than 200 persons filled the Board of Supervisors Chambers in Redwood City, overflowing into the lobby, to listen to and participate in the debate on the plan amendments and the draft environmental impact report on the proposed $850 million Crocker Hills development which would provide a total of 7,655 dwelling units in the Saddle, Northeast Ridge, Brisbane and South San Francisco areas of the mountain.

Because of lengthy presentations by the planning staff and by officials of Visitacion Associates, which plans the development, no public comments were taken by the commission.

A second hearing is scheduled for July 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the War Memorial Building, 6655 Mission St., Daly City. A third hearing, at night will be scheduled for Redwood City in the near future.

Included in the development on a total of 1,293 acres would be 1,829,000 square feet of retail, commercial recreation, office and warehousing development.

SSF Tax Rate Steady

South San Francisco councilmen Monday night adopted a $11,498,224 operating budget for fiscal 1975-76.

The annual document represents a 13.2 per cent increase over the 1974-75 fiscal year, although the tax rate remains at $1 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Director of Administrative Services Stan Bara said the council had lopped $2 million in initial departmental requests out of the budget.

There were six positions vacated by attrition and one position of police-fire dispatcher created in the next fiscal year's budget.

In addition to adopting the budget, the councilmen ratified employe memorandum of understandings with five work groups. The settlements were for an average 7.5 per cent salary increase.

Three other employe unions — clerical, outside employes and firemen — have not ratified their contracts.

City Manager Ed Alario said the budget had a 7.5 per cent wage increase built in to cover these work groups. "If you allow them more, you will have an unbalanced budget," said Alario.

After adopting the budget, the council went into executive session to discuss strategy regarding wage negotiations of the three groups that have declined to sign memorandum of understanding.

Ex-SSF Police Chief Fabbri Dies at 46

John Fabbri, police chief of Fremont and former police chief of South San Francisco, died at his home in Fremont Sunday after a heart attack.

He was 46, a native of South San Francisco, and had been in law enforcement since he was 21.

A graduate of San Francisco State College, University of California at Berkeley, and the FBI Academy, he began his career as a police officer with the South San Francisco in 1950, and became chief there in 1962.

He continued as chief in South San Francisco until moving to Fremont in 1969 to head the police department there.

He served on numerous law enforcement and crime commissions and advisory groups, from the President's Crime Commission and the International Police Chiefs Association to the San Mateo County Juvenile Justice Commission.

DC Selects Consultants

D'Amico & Associates and Albert R. Seyranian & Associates — a joint venture team — was named Monday by the Daly City City Council to act as consultants for the Redevelopment Agency in preparation of plans for the Market Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard redevelopment areas.

The consultants will receive $120,000 and are expected to complete the contract within 12-14 months, it was explained.

They will concern themselves with the design element, economical element, engineering aspects and environmental impact of any redevelopment in the two target areas.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis said the selection came after a five-member group surveyed some 50 prospects for the job.

half of the 1,293-acre plan area is over 30 per cent slope and considered quite difficult to develop.

As a result, the 300-acre Saddle area, which conservationists are particularly fighting to preserve in open space, is scheduled for the highest density of development because it contains the largest single block of developable land and represents 41 per cent of the total acreage less than 30 per cent in slope.

The report notes that the Saddle area contains one of the last remaining fresh water wetlands in the Bay Area. The wetland, known as the "bog," is believed to contain the rare and endangered San Francisco garter snake and provides habitat for the snake's prey, the protected red-legged frog.

Asst. County Planning Director William Powers reported that the Saddle area is proposed for 71 per cent of the residential units, 48 per cent of the retail space, 45 per cent of the office space and 100 per cent of the commercial recreation development proposed.

The shopping center would be located across Guadalupe Canyon Parkway from the north edge of the proposed San Bruno Mountain Regional Park.

In alternative plans cited in the staff report, the development in the Saddle area would be reduced by 61 per cent in one plan, while it would be preserved in its present state under another plan.

The Lower Density in Saddle Alternative (LDS) plan would decrease from 5,420 to 2,091 the number of residential units, with corresponding decreases in other uses.

This alternative, Powers reported, would reduce from 6,360 to 5,838 the number of jobs in the development and would reduce the total population of the plan area from 18,652 to 11,018.

Visitacion Associates contend that there have already been so many concessions made in density of development that any further reduction would make the project financially unfeasible.

A second, Saddle in Open Space (SOS), alternative would retain the entire Saddle area in recreation and managed open space use while permitting all other planning areas as proposed in the developer's plan.

The total number of dwelling units proposed under SOS is 2,235, or about 30 per cent of the total proposed under the Visitacion Associates plan.

A third, Managed Open Space (MOS) alternative, would preserve the mountain in managed open space and recreation, with only the Bayshore North area of the Northeast Ridge continuing to be developed for office and warehousing uses similar to those in the adjacent Crocker Industrial Park.

In the staff recommendation, County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe said that analysis of the technical evidence concerning the Saddle area did not reveal a clear choice of land use alternatives.

"In short," he stated, "no single option is clearly the best choice."

Rally Attracts Hundreds

By DUANE SANDUL

Hundreds of building trades workers today staged a massive sidewalk and heavy-vehicle demonstration around the Hall of Justice in Redwood City to support development of San Bruno Mountain.

Robert Gilmore, business manager for the Building and Construction Trade Council of San Mateo County, estimated that from 40 to 50 large trucks participated in circling the Hall of Justice. Most trucks had signs plastered to them supporting development and criticizing so-called environmentalist attempts to curb it.

About 150 or more building trades workers, many unemployed, marched up and down the sidewalk in front of the Hall of Justice, 20 feet from where the county planning commission was conducting a hearing to study alternatives to the development proposal.

At issue is a proposal by Visitacion Associates for a development around the base and part way up the sides of San Bruno Mountain, between Brisbane and South San Francisco. It would house about 20,000 people.

Robert Follett, general manager of Visitacion, said the demonstration was a "complete surprise to us. We had heard through the grapevine that there was a groundswell of support for our project.

"One union official said that he's going with us all the way because we're fighters, and said that labor is willing to help us wake up the politicians to the need for housing and employment," Follett said.

Follett said that of the 3,350 acres of San Bruno Mountain, only 420 would be for development.

"There'll be all the open space people can use and more," he said.

Gilmore said that he had given advance notice of the demonstration to Redwood City Police Chief George Bold. There were few police watching the parade of trucks and march.

According to information distributed by a group called Coalition of Concerned Citizens, organizers of the demonstration, the Crocker Hills development, would mean 7,400 new permanent jobs by 1990 in the Crocker Industrial Park area.

Development over 15 years would generate jobs for 500 construction workers, as well as for thousands of workers in industries which service the construction trade, the group said. It was estimated that 6.8 workers in building trades are employed for each construction worker.

Many of the various trades highlighted widespread unemployment conditions on their signs and placards. Trades involved included contractors, cement masons, plumbers and teamsters.

Signs carried these messages, plus others:

"Birds don't vote, labor does."

"Sierra Club Take a Hike."

"No Development Means No Jobs."

"Crocker Hills Means Orderly Development."

The demonstration also was orderly, as the sound of the trucks attracted dozens of passersby as well as employes at the Hall of Justice.

A spokesman said that another purpose of the demonstration was to "counter the misleading scare tactics of hysterical environmentalists concerning the proposed development."

In a prepared statement, the Committee to Save San Bruno Mountain charged the would-be developers with "deliberately misleading rank and file construction workers (with) false promises of jobs" as a "cruel deception designed to sway support for an ill-conceived project.

"The fact is that this project will create only a small fraction of the jobs that have been promised," the statement said.

Workers Protest

Protesting the "no development" theme which they say has cost many of them their jobs, hundreds of construction workers last week demonstrated at the San Mateo County Hall of Justice in Redwood City where Planning Commissioners were hearing plans for development of San Bruno Mountain by Visitacion Associates.

The committee contends that the proposed development would be a "disastrous solution, or no solution at all to local unemployment problems."

It said that it is often the practice of large developers to let out contracts to firms that are not located in the Bay Area and which usually bring their own men with them.

It challenged Visitacion Associates to make binding guarantees that if the project goes ahead contracts will be given to local contractors and jobs to San Mateo County workers before any others.

Furthermore, the committee charged, the proposed development cannot be built without taxpayers subsidizing it with at least $50 million in taxes for schools, roads, water, sewage, fire, police and other services.

B'nai Israel Sets Services

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel 1575 Annie Street, Daly City at 8:30 p.m. July 4.

In the absence of Rabbi Ira Book, who with Mrs. Book is visiting Israel, the Sabbath services will be conducted by Cantor Jacob Grauenz.

Sabbath services will continue on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Merchants Hear Visitacion Foe

A development on San Bruno Mountain would have a detrimental effect on Daly City's traffic, existing businesses and taxpaying residents, the Mission Merchants Association was told Thursday.

Tom Adams, Legal Aid Society attorney, said a proposed development of 18,000 residents and support commercial facilities atop the 3,500-acre mountain would not benefit either the business community or residents of Daly City.

With Dave Schooling assisting him, Adams showed slides and maps outlining the mountain's past history and what Visitacion Associates planned for the "saddle area" of the undeveloped mountain.

The cheapest and best use for the entire mountain, according to Adams, would be to leave it in open space.

Asked if he was strictly against growth of any sort, Adams said, "Not if growth is in the right place for growth."

But he maintained the mountain should not be developed as proposed.

He warned of past promises made and allegedly not met by developers in other North County areas and warned the community must bear the scars of those broken agreements.

Adams, who told the merchants he represented the "Save San Bruno Mountain" group, grimly predicted homes and businesses would have to be torn down to make way for street widening to facilitate traffic generated by the development.

There is little doubt the development will overtax traffic on city streets. It will also jam the Bay Area Rapid Transit trains, Adams said.

Mission Street will be at 98 per cent capacity to the county line, he said, and John Daly Avenue will be clogged with cars at peak commute periods.

"I don't have exact numbers" on this situation because the developer "did not include them in his impact report," Adams said.

Motorists stuck in traffic for five minutes waiting to get to work could account for an estimated $3.5 million in lost work time, according to Adams.

And the decibels from traffic and work equipment from the development site would be deafening, he claimed.

"The sound decibels would be above acceptable levels. So great (will this noise be) that children and teachers (at the John F. Kennedy School) won't be able to hear each other," Adams warned.

It will cost taxpayers in the county $3.338 million to support any mountain development, Adams told the association.

The cost of buying the land for open space would have less of a financial impact, he said.

There are federal and state monies available for such purposes, but Adams did not say from which agencies.

A statement made last week by Robert Follett that the site is valued by developers at more than $30 million has been "substantially overcharged" Adams said.

The consensus of businessmen at the meeting was that a sound development with open space adjacent to the site would be acceptable.

Some said they felt the development actually would help their lagging businesses along Mission Street. Others said a development would "protect" the mountain from vandals, fire and from using the area as a garbage dumping ground as many persons do now.

An electrical appliances dealer said some people may condemn the construction of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway across the mountain. However, he said, "without it I would never have been able to drive through that beautiful area."

Compadre Project

"Project Compadre" (Spanish for companion or partner) will start in San Mateo County July 10 at a meeting of the Peninsula Association for Retarded Children and Adults.

Dennis Pankratz of the Sonoma County Citizen Advocacy group, which has operated a pilot program of this nature, will be the guest speaker.

Underground Fire Said Good as Out

That persistent underground fire at the South San Francisco sewage treatment plant is as good as out, according to fire officials, but the smoldering inferno may end up costing upwards of $25,000, City Manager Ed Alario said.

Smoke from the nearly two-week-old firm attracted the attention of the Air Pollution Control Board, which cited the city for pollution violations and ordered the burning materials be churned, turned and spread until the fire was out.

Gunman Sentenced

Lawrence M. Cauchi, 23, of San Bruno, the triggerman in an attempted murder last March, Tuesday was sentenced to prison for one to 14 years by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo.

Cauchi pleaded guilty May 27 to assault with the intent to commit murder.

Two other defendants, who face sentencing next month, pled guilty to lesser crimes.

The victim, Richard Allen Davis, 23, of South San Francisco, was shot in the back and left along the Bayshore Freeway near Brisbane March 3.

SSF Lawsuit Over Planned Building

A lawsuit has been filed against the City of South San Francisco alleging that its recent action forming the South San Francisco Public Facilities Corporation to build a public safety facility violates the state constitution.

The action was filed in South San Francisco court Tuesday afternoon by San Francisco attorney Peter Colman on behalf of resident Ronald A. Acosta, persistent foe of the city's planned method of financing the $5.5 million facility.

According to the complaint, the creation of the dummy corporation "is a subterfuge designed solely to circumvent (the constitution) and for no other purpose."

The complaint alleges "said subterfuge was adopted by the city and corporation with the purpose and intent of violating the rights of the taxpayers of the city under the California Constitution by creating an indebtedness or liability of the city contrary to constitutional limitations."

Specifically, the complaint states, the facility lease creates an indebtedness or liability without a two-thirds vote of the people.

The city, which has 40 days to respond, has obtained the San Francisco legal firm of Orrick Herrington Rowley and Sutcliffe to handle the case.

Acosta, who recently lost out in a recall petition signature technicality, said "To me it's a constitutional issue. The people voted and the people said no."

He said he wanted the question of financing to be brought back to the voters.

A second cause of action in the suit is to obtain a court order permanently restraining the city from authorizing the payment of any funds to the dummy corporation.

Colman said "It's called a lease, but it's really a purchase contract. We are contending it's invalid because the city is incurring indebtedness without a two-thirds vote of the people, which is unconstitutional.

"The bonds are what makes it a purchase agreement. They (the city) are obviously buying more than a right to occupy," he said.

On April 2, the city council adopted an ordinance authorizing the execution of a contract with the corporation in which the city was to become the leasee of the property upon which the facility was to be built.

The corporation was responsible for the sale of the bonds, on which Bank of America has since submitted a low bid of 7.0685 per cent. The city was to pay a bimonthly "rent" to the corporation which would amortize the bonds.

Proceeds of the bonds would build the facility. When the bonds were paid off, the city would retain ownership of the facility and the lands on which it would be built.

According to City Manager Ed Alario, the city will be paying $229,267 twice a year beginning March 15, 1977, to the corporation.

He said, at the time of the acceptance of the Bank of America low bond interest bid, that grading for the planned project could start within two weeks after the contract was awarded.

Completion of the facility was estimated to take 18 months.

Teachers to Mull Recourse

Forty-five dismissed teachers in the Jefferson Elementary School District will decide this week whether or not to seek further legal action in an attempt to retain their jobs.

The 45 teachers, members of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association, were told of their dismissal at the JESD Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday evening.

Mike Cusick, JCTA president, said the teachers are consulting the California Teachers Association. A formal decision concerning further action will be reached this week, he said.

Trustees had mulled the dismissal of as many as 83 teachers who are placed on a low seniority list.

The financial struggling school district has faced declining enrollment and decreased revenue leading up to the trustees teacher dismissal this week.

There are about 8,300 children in the district. It is the third biggest elementary district in San Mateo County. In four years, the district has lost about 1,650 students.

The trustees' action followed communication from Paul J. Doyle who served as the hearing officer for testimony of JESD administrators and teachers representatives earlier this month.

Doyle wrote in a letter to the board that the district feasibly could dismiss all 83 persons on the seniority list established earlier this year.

"The board didn't feel the need to dismiss that many," said Dr. Vince Stratton, associate superintendent for instruction and certificated personnel. "The board had the final decision to dismiss as many as they wanted."

Stratton said letters of dismissal were sent by registered mail to the 45 dismissed teachers today.

The teachers on the seniority list already are aware of their employment status since they were assigned lottery numbers from 1 to 83 when the list was formed.

The letter to the teachers, Stratton said, will cite declining average daily attendance of students and reduction in support services such as music and programs for special handicaps, as the reasons for dismissal.

However, JESD teachers are not satisfied with the manner in which dismissals were conducted and the status of those teachers who were dismissed Cusick said.

Statton indicated some of the dismissed teachers may be re-employed in the fall based on their lottery number.

"There's a good possibility we will be able to rehire some people in support services that are needed. Some cases are music, speech and bilingual program. The chances of several of them being rehired are good at this point," Stratton said.

Cusick said the method used in dismissal is "inhumane." He said in the two previous years, all dismissed teachers were rehired in the fall and, again this year, Stratton is indicating a chance of rehiring.

"The administration has been off in predicting ADA as much as 20 per cent in the past," Cusick said. He said a major industry could not afford to continually underestimate its material needs.

The consensus of the three councilmen — William Schumacher, McRobert Stewart and Kyriakis — was that the company should be dealt with severely if an extension of time is granted and they again fail to meet the schedule.

A performance bond is expected to be demanded prior to any further extension agreement, it was learned.

Councilman Anthony Giammona, who left on vacation Tuesday, registered a loud "no" vote to the request for a continued public hearing in the matter.

He said "I haven't changed my mind since I voted 'no' last year. I want a vote on the extension tonight."

The motion died for lack of a second.

He was a member of the executive committee of the California Peace Officers Association, and of the California Police Chiefs Association, and a former president of the FBI National Academy Associates of California.

Survivors include his widow, Gloria; and two daughters, Lynn and Dana, of Fremont, and a sister, Alice Fabbri of Rohnert Park.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, July 2, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Fremont Chapel of the Roses. Mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Fremont at 10 a.m., and interment will be at the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Hayward.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Hemophilia Fund of Northern California, the Palos Verdes School for the Handicapped in South San Francisco, the Fremont Police Widows and Orphans fund, or the Boys Club of Fremont.

Female Suspect Torches Car

A car belonging to a San Mateo man was deliberately set afire Sunday afternoon in Burlingame by a young woman.

Police say witnesses saw a woman start the fire behind the bucket seat of Jerry Rosman's open 1974 sports car, while it was parked in the 1200 block of Laguna Avenue.

Fire Inspector Howard Pearson agreed that the fire had been deliberately set. Partially burned paper and matches were found in the car.

can you imagine one document powerful enough to affect millions of lives for nearly 200 years? the declaration of independence marked the beginning of a new nation, "conceived in Liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." there have been many great men over the years who have put their hearts into this country so that the precious principles set forth in this document would survive. as we approach our country's 199th birthday, Let's celebrate with renewed spirit; repledge our faith in this declaration and all it stands for; pay tribute to all those dedicated men who gave their all so that this country upholds the high ideals outlined in 1776; and, perhaps, most important, cherish our most precious possession . . . freedom!

Restoring Pride to Foster Children

By MICHELLE CARTER
Times Staff Writer

Every public foster care agency probably has file drawers full of such cases—children who have been in and out of different families ever since infancy, who have little chance of ever returning to their natural parents or becoming available for adoption.

They are often neglected, emotionally disturbed children who desperately need some continuity and love in their lives, a home that will actually be a home and foster parents who will be more like their real parents than natural parents ever were.

Now there is a special place for these children. Called the Casey Family Program, it's a privately funded foster care agency operating in Washington, Idaho, Montana and northern California.

Robert F. Jones serves as executive director of the northern California office in San Mateo. Jones, who came to Casey after a career in residential treatment centers for emotionally disturbed and dependent children, is assisted by a California board of directors headed by Mrs. Robert Gilmore of San Mateo, who also serves as a trustee of the foundation.

The Casey program is funded by the children of the late Annie Casey of Seattle in her memory. In the early 1900's, the Caseys were a poverty-stricken family that had emigrated up the Pacific Coast to Seattle where the father died and the mother was left to take in laundry to support her five children. The children began doing odd jobs on the waterfront and their enterprise eventually grew into a million dollar business.

All five children proved to be childless themselves, and in 1965 the two surviving Caseys sought to do something "for the children of the country." The Casey Family Program was the result.

The Casey Program came to San Mateo in October, 1973, to serve all the northern California counties. The first child placed through the program is a good example of what Jones and the Casey program is trying to do.

"The first child we placed had been in 13 different homes before she was referred to us, and from then to now is the longest period she had ever been in one home. She's even had a 'legal name change' to give her the last name of her foster parents. Since she cannot be adopted, this is about as close as we can come to making her foster parents 'official'," Jones said.

"The primary criteria for placement with the Casey Program is long-term foster care — children for whom there is little probability they will ever return to their natural parents and who are not likely to be candidates for adoption . . . Most of our children are dependent, neglected children who often have failed in other homes. Our program is often the last alternative before sending a child to an institution."

The foster parents sought by the Casey Program are "persons willing to commit themselves and become, in fact, the psychological parents of the child."

The Casey Program goes a long way to make the child feel that he truly is an authentic member of his foster family. Besides compensating the foster family for out of pocket expenses for the child, the program also will authorize private schools, orthodontia, summer camp, music lessons, Scouts — "whatever the foster parents would do for their own children.

They don't have to shop in different stores for the foster child or take him to a public clinic. We have a private insurance plan that allows parents to take the child to their family doctor. We design the treatment plan for each child to fit the lifestyle of their foster parents.

"Some of these kids have been deprived of pride in the past . . . we would like to restore it," Mrs. Gilmore said.

"Hopefully the psychological parent really becomes the parent," Jones added.

The Casey Program has even taken a role in the higher education of their children.

"One girl in Seattle graduated rrom college and now is getting her masters in social work. We feel like the program has come full circle with her," Jones said. "If they show ability and talent, the children in the program know that college or trade school or whatever is available to them, too."

Because the program is relatively new in the area, Jones believes the public agencies are just becoming aware of the role Casey can play.

"The county sees us as a special resource, and judges have made direct referrals to us when they see a child who is likely to remain in foster care for a long time," Jones said.

The program keeps a backlog of foster parent candidates on file and goes to great length to match the child and the family as carefully as possible. "If our group of parents doesn't meet the need of a child we have accepted, we'll seek out a family for him. It once took us nine months to find a home for three boys. But you have to do it. If parents want an eight-year-old girl and a 15-year-old boy shows up, you're bound to have problems," Jones said.

SERVING CHILDREN
At the helm of the Casey Family Program in northern California is Robert F. Jones, executive director, and Mrs. Robert Gilmore, president of the board of directors and a trustee of the foundation.

In foster parent candidates, Jones looks for self-esteem, a sense of humor and intelligence, and "we look very carefully at how they have performed as parents with their own children."

At the present time, there are no Casey foster parents in San Mateo County.

"I think it's just that we are not known in the county," Mrs. Gilmore said. "We're looking for parents, and there certainly are people looking to be foster parents if they can have the right kind of support.

Families interested in the program are invited to contact Jones or Mrs. Gilmore at the Casey Family Program offices, 1710 South Amphlett Boulevard, San Mateo.

Tax Appeal Dates Told

The period for filing of appeals on San Mateo County real property assessments for 1975-76 begins July 2 and continues through Sept. 15.

Historic Tapestry Unveiled

The result of the efforts of talented members of the Assistance League of San Mateo County is currently on display at the Hibernia Bank in San Mateo.

Twenty-three members of the League's stitchery group designed and executed the needlepoint tapestry that depicts events in the 200 year history of the United States.

The work measures four and one-half by six and one-half feet and contains 144,144 stitches. It took nine months to work the designs.

The 200 year period was divided into decades and each member selected, by lot, a 10-year period. She then researched, created and transferred her design to a number six needlepoint canvas and stitched a nine by 12 inch panel in persion yarn. The 20 panels thus completed were then needlepointed together into a homogeneous design tapestry and enclosed within a border symbolizing the unity of the country.

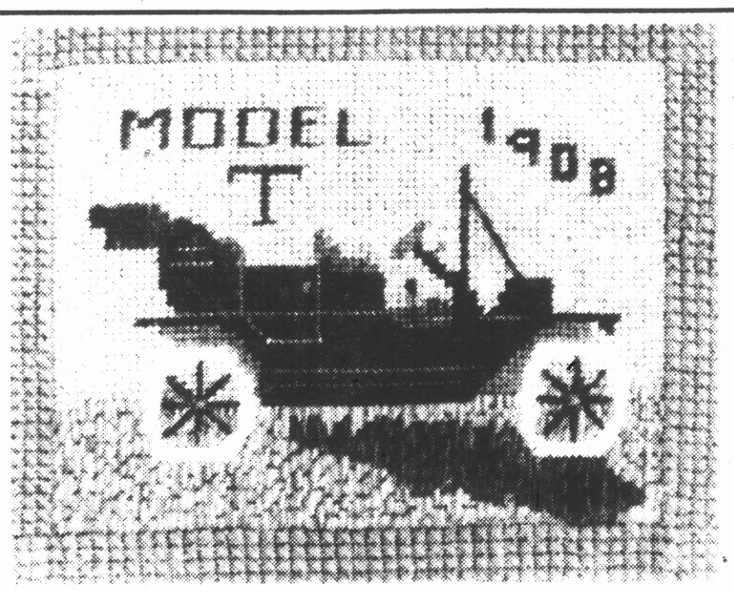

Mrs. Robert Sherwood, leader and originator of the stitichery group, coordinated the panels. Rosalie Coy and Mrs. Dwight Sale designed and executed the ribbon border with Mrs. Louis Lataillade and Mrs. Carlton Stallman aiding in the needlepoint stitching.

The periods depicted and their artists are as follows: 1776—Liberty Bell, Mrs. Otis Clark; 1787 — Constitution Signing; Mrs. Warren Farnam; 1803 — Louisiana Purchase, Mrs. William Coibion; 1812 — Star Spangled Banner, Mrs. Horace O'Keefe; 1815 — Indian Head, Mrs. Henry Nourse; 1838 — Remember the Alamo; Mrs. James Bailey; 1849 — The Gold Rush, Mrs. Wayne Barr; 1855 — Covered Wagon, Gladys Tabler; 1861 — Lincoln and the Confederate Flag, Mrs. Mitchell Boyd; 1866 — First Trains, Mrs. Everett Berberian; 1879 — Electricity, Mrs. W. I. Petersen; 1886 — Statue of Liberty, Mrs. Dwight Sale; 1903 — Kitty Hawk, Mrs. John P. Cruden; 1908 — Model T Ford, Mrs. Coy; 1920s — Jazz and the Charleston Dancers, Mrs. Norman Fox; 1930s — The New Deal and the NRA, Mrs. Gerald Griffin; 1944 — Iwo Jima, Mrs. William Haight; 1945 — The United Nations, Mrs. Edmund Niederhaus; the 1960s — The assassinations of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King and Senator Robert Kennedy — Mrs. Sherwood; 1969 — Man of the Moon, Ruth McKay.

The tapestry was unveiled last week by San Mateo Mayor, Jane Baker, and Hugh Wayne, chairman of the bicentennial commission.

Peter F. Miller, senior vice president and bank manager, provided the welcomes.

The tapestry will be on display at the Hibernia Bank for two more weeks before moving on to other community areas.

An Urgent Appeal for Foster Parents

JACKIE, a Bay Area community group organized to coordinate efforts to find new foster parents, has issued an urgent appeal for parents for 22 children.

JACKIE looks for parents for three agencies who work with homeless children. The agencies include the San Francisco Department of Social Services, Catholic Social Services and the Casey Family Program.

The children, who are Caucasian, Black, Chinese, Chicano and Eurasian, range in age from 1½ to 17 years.

Some of these children need both a foster mother and father, while others may live with a single parent. Some, especially the very young, will need one parent at home, but many of the school age children will do fine with both foster parents working as long as adequate after school arrangements are made.

Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent is invited to contact JACKIE, 3410 Geary St., San Francisco, between 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

Conference Delegates Chosen

Two representatives from the Jefferson Elementary School District have been selected as delegates to the 49th annual conference of the California School Employees Association July 29-Aug. 1 in Los Angeles.

They are Charles Spiteri, a school custodian, and Al Edgman, a maintenance man.

Announcement of the selections was made by Spiteri, who is president of Jefferson Elementary, California School Employees Association No. 233.

An estimated 2,000 delegates and visitors from more than 600 association chapters will take part in the four-day conclave, Spiteri said.

The delegates will represent CSEA's 60,000-plus membership, which consists of classified school employes from throughout the state.

Major conference activities, action on proposed legislation and group's annual election of state officers will take place at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

Present officers, whose current terms expire with the close of the Los Angeles meeting, are Bill Ellis of Indio, president; Jack Woodie of La Mirada, first vice president; Joe Poree of Alameda, second vice president; and Mrs. Ina Pellizzer, Palo Alto, secretary. Jack Willard, Chula Vista, is junior past president.

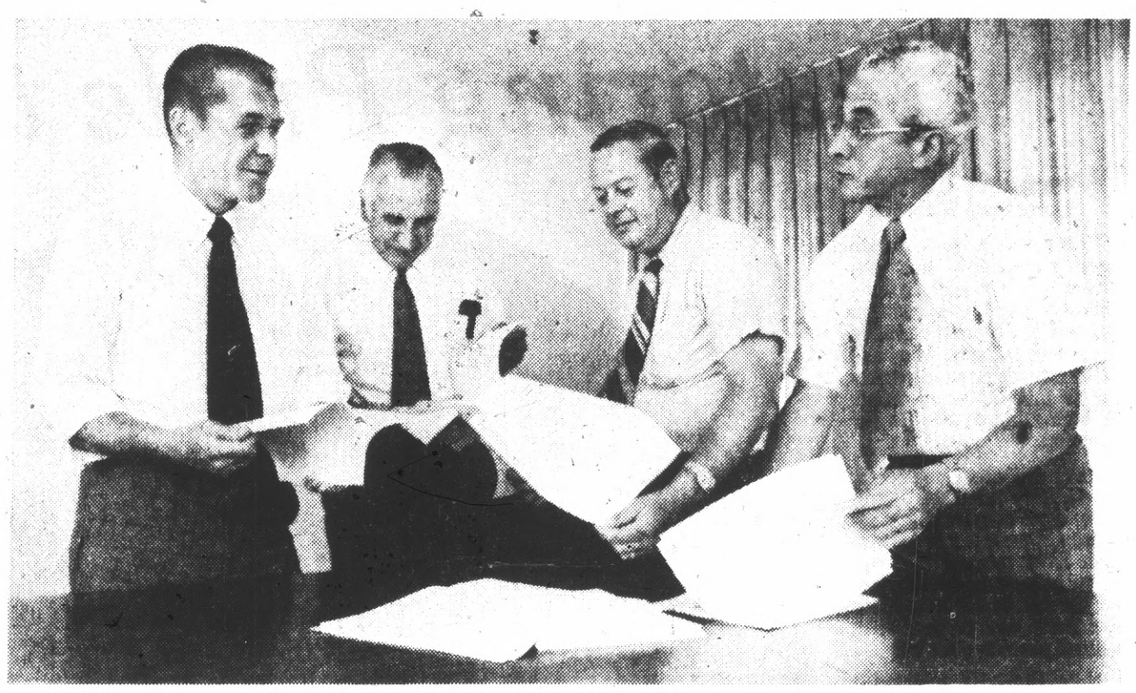

The conference delegations will include a large staff contingent from the organization's state headquarters in San Jose, according to Richard C. Bartlett, CSEA executive director.

In addition to adoption of the organization's annual budget and other business items, events slated during the conference include selection of the state's top classified employes at a special awards luncheon.

Conference activities will get under way Wednesday, July 30, with keynoter Dr. Leonard Servetter, newly appointed superintendent of the Chula Vista City Elementary School District.

The annual awards luncheon is the Thursday's schedule and final business sessions are scheduled for Friday, when new officers will be installed.

NEW CHAMBER OFFICERS

Magic Show Encourages Good Eating for Children

"There's no trick to good nutrition" is the theme of a free magic show that will be held at Serramonte Center in Daly City July 11 at 3, 5, and 7 p.m.

The magic show features Paul Svengari as The Nutrition Magician, who will use his magical talents to amuse children and help them understand the basics of good nutrition.

During his magic acts, Svengari encourages youngsters to eat a balanced diet and explains to them that nutritious foods are needed for growth, energy and good health.

The Nutrition Magician's appearance in this area is sponsored by the California Raisin Advisory Board, a commodity organization representing the nation's raisin industry. Svengari's magic acts, though designed primarily for children from six to 12 years old, are entertaining and informative for all age groups.

In his role as The Nutrition Magician, Svengari is touring 15 cities across the country in July as part of the Raisin Board's summer nutrition education program.

Throughout his shows he reminds children to maintain good eating habits during their summer vacations from school.

Svengari, who received his first magic set when he was five years old, has been a professional magician for 16 years.

He studied with internationally famous magicians and has won various awards for magic shows he developed. When not on the road, he appears regularly at The Magic Cellar, a San Francisco nightclub specializing in magic entertainment.

Shakespeare Production In Pacifica Saturday

William Shakespeare's ever-popular, light and entertaining "A Midsummer Night's Dream" opens this week at the Sharp Park Public Library in Pacifica.

Four performances of this comedy have been scheduled for the weekend: July 5 at 8:30 p.m., and July 6, at 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Admission will be $1 for children, $2 for adults.

This production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" marks the opening of the second performing season of the North County community theater group, the Southgate Theater Kompany. Last summer ir Daly City the group performed the "The Importance of Being Earnest" and "The Lion in Winter."

According to the general director of the company, Gordon Farrell, who also is responsible for directing "A Midsummer Night's Dream," two unique aspects of their staging of the play lie in the updating of the setting from Ancient Greece to Renaissance Europe, and in the simplifying of much of the obscure Shakesperian idiom.

Farrell said he believes these variations from the original text will enhance the appreciation of the play by modern audiences.

Appearing in this hilarious comedy of mistaken identity, will be Richard Talavera, Donna Wells, and Verona De Witt of Pacifica, along with Bob Fox of San Carlos, as the foursome of star-crossed lovers: Lynda West of Pacifica and Jim Swanson of Daly City as Titania and Oberon, queen and king of the Fairies; and Jeff Wilbur of Daly City as the mischievous sprite, Puck.

Other local residents in the play include persons from San Bruno, Pacifica and South San Francisco.

PORTRAYING A KING

Jim Swanson of Daly City portrays Oberon, King of the Fairies, in the Southgate Theater Company's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" in Pacifica this weekend.

Baking Cookies— Fun for Everyone

Do you feel like baking some cookies today? Or better still, can you convince one of your children that baking cookies is a wonderful, fun-type thing to do this morning? Either way I have a brace of recipes to recommend.

This first recipe uses a cake mix as its base. It's easy to make with cream cheese giving the cookies a deliciously different taste. Added bonus . . . it makes five dozen cookies.

RAISIN CREAM CHEESE GEMS

- ½ cup butter
- 1 package (8-oz.) cream cheese
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 package (19-oz.) yellow cake mix (used dry)
- 1¼ cups seedless raisins
- ½ cup shredded coconut
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Beat together the fourth cup butter, eight ounces cream cheese, one egg yolk and the teaspoon vanilla. Blend in the package dry yellow cake mix, one third at a time, mixing the last portion by hand. Mix in the one and one-fourth cups raisins, half cup each coconut and chopped nuts.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfulls onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in 350-degree oven about 15 minutes until lightly browned. Makes about five dozen cookies.

Cookies, especially the home-made variety, make a great dessert and the fact that there will be some left for lunches just gives them added charm.

HOOSIER PEANUT BARS

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine, softened
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 egg yolks (whites reserved)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

In large mixer bowl, combine the two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup each margarine, sugar, and brown sugar, two egg yolks and one teaspoon vanilla. Blend at a low speed until particles are fine. Press into greased 9x13-inch pan. Spread topping over crust.

TOPPING

- 2 reserved egg whites
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup (6-oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 1 cup chopped salted peanuts

In small mixer bowl beat two egg whites at high speed until foamy. Gradually add the one cup brown sugar, continuing to beat until meringue stands in soft peaks. Fold in the one cup chocolate bits and one-half cup of the chopped nuts. Spread over crust and sprinkle with remaining half cup peanuts. Bake in 325-degree oven (moderate) for 40 to 45 minutes. While warm, cut into bars. Makes 36 bars.

Note: The topping doesn't spread easily over the crust. Just spread it a bit and the heat of the oven will do the rest. Also I found the bars quite rich and cut them in smaller sizes making about 48 bars.

Marine Corps Display in D.C.

Marines from the inspector-instructor staff of the San Francisco Marine Reserve Unit have constructed a traveling historical display van for the Corps' Bicentennial celebration.

It will be on display today in the east parking lot of Serramonte Center in Daly City. The van was constructed from a 30-foot semi-trailer, which is divided into three rooms that separate the historical display into three segments: the colonial period; the years from 1800-1952; and the current Marine Corps.

The historical information displayed in the van includes models, documents, paintings, pictures and films. A three-foot model of Tun Tavern, the birthplace of the corps, is encased in the colonial room. It took five months to build and is accurate in every detail.

The van will be on exhibit throughout the Bay Area (at fairs, shopping centers and schools) through July 4 of next year.

ATTRACTIVE HOME

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Keller, 528 Midway Ave. in Daly City, recently was selected as the "Home of the Month" by the Broadmoor Property Owners Association. The association particularly pointed out the circular arrangement of shrubs and the junipers.

New Officers for Mary's Help Staff

A new slate of officers for 1975-76 recently was elected at the quarterly meeting of the Mary's Help Hospital Medical-Dental Staff.

Reinold J. Jones, M.D., is president, and Frank J. Kmak, M.D., president-elect.

Also named to new posts were Robert N. Brodsky, M.D., secretary-treasurer, and David C. Young, M.D., and Edgar V. Nolan, M.D., who will serve as first and second members-at-large, respectively.

Jones, who is chief of the division of cardio-thoracic surgery at Mary's Help Hospital, has been a member of the staff since 1959. He is a graduate of the Creighton University Medical School, Omaha, Nebraska, and served an internship and residency in General Surgery at St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco.

In 1963, Jones served a one year residency in thoracic surgery at Highland-Alameda Hospital in Oakland, and completed a one year fellowship in Cardiac Surgery at St. Vincent Medical Center, Los Angeles.

Jones is a diplomate of the American Board of Cardio-Vascular Surgery and of the American Board of Surgery. He also is a fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

Jones succeeds Paul Negulescu, M.D., who served a one year term as president of the Mary's Help Medical-Dental Staff.

President-elect Kmak, an obstetrician and gynecologist in private practice in San Francisco, also has been a Mary's Help staff member since 1959. After graduation from Indiana University Medical School, he served his internship at San Francisco General Hospital and a three year residency in obstetrics and gynecology under the San Francisco Catholic Hospitals Combined Residency Program.

Before coming to Mary's Help Hospital, Kmak was a staff member of Queen of the Valley Hospital in Napa, and St. Joseph's Hospital, San Francisco, where he also served as president of the medical staff.

Kmak is a diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and a member of the San Francisco Medical Society.

Reinold J. Jones, M.D.

Injunction Halts Home Addition

San Mateo Superior Court Judge Melvin Cohn has sustained an injunction against a Daly City homeowner who wanted to build an extension to his home.

The Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association had filed the action against George and Catherine Horsfall after neighbors complained the extension would allow persons to peer into their windows.

Also named in the suit, filed by attorney Hartley Appleton, was the city of Daly City.

Daly City was named because it had issued Horsfall a building permit.

Attorney Albert Polonsky argued that the city did not have to abide by building covenants set down by a private homeowners' association.

Judge Cohn agreed and dismissed the suit against the city.

The Horsfall's attorney, Paul Hupf, said the covenants of the WSIA were non-enforceable and the injunction should be lifted, thus allowing his client to complete the extension.

Hupf said the original covenants, drafted in 1949, had a lifespan of 25 years, renewable for 10-year periods, unless a majority of homeowners voted it out.

The period was up as of Jan., 1974, Hupf said.

Simple Faith of American Pioneers

From one of the books that inspired the popular television series "The Little House on the Prairie" comes a message from primative America.

"Pa, how can muskrats know?" she asked.

"I don't know how they know," Pa said. "But they do. God tells them, somehow, I suppose."

"Then why doesn't God tell us? Laura wanted to know.

"Because," said Pa, "we're not animals. We're humans, and, like it says in the Declaration of Independence, God created us free. That means we got to take care of ourselves."

Laura said faintly, "I thought God takes care of us."

"He does," Pa said, "so far as we do what's right. And He gives us a conscience and brains to know what's right. But He leaves it to us to do as we please. That's the difference between us and everything else in creation."

"Can't muskrats do what they please?" Laura asked, amazed.

"No," said Pa. "I don't know why they can't but you can see then can't. Look at that muskrat house. Muskrats have to build that kind of house. They always have and they always will. It's plain they can't build any other kind. But folks build all kinds of houses. A man can build any kind of house he can think of. So if his house don't keep out the weather, thats' his look-out; he's free and independent."

ALTHOUGH IT appeared in a book for youthful readers this is a clear statement of the simple faith of the American pioneers. They were free men. This knowledge clung to them as they worked for long hours, day in and day out, for a scanty amount of the world's riches. As they lived in their sod houses and ate their coarse food, they held their heads high for they were free from external restraints. They planned their work; they marketed the products of their labor and spent the proceeds as they desired. It mattered very little if someone down the line grew rich, from handling the wheat or corn they grew.

Such matters were only smoke, as Bernard De Voto wrote. All that mattered was that they were free men. Thus De Voto pictured a character who was too interested in setting his fruit trees where he wanted them on a farm of alkaline soil to worry about the rich in Chicago or New York, or about the government leaders or the church leaders or even the school officials. De Voto's character did not realize that he was poor until his grandson told him so.

SUCH A SIMPLE knowledge of the freedom of the individual made sterling characters of ordinary people. So Laura Ingalls Wilder's Ma held as a motto, "We wouldn't do much if we didn't do things that nobody ever heard of before." Meanwhile her Pa could sing as faced adversaries

Oh, I am as happy as a Bit sunflower
That nods and bends in the breezes, Oh
And my heart is as light as the winds that blow
The leaves from the trees

His response was, "Yes, But I was free."

Surely a return to such positive thinking is in order for Americans as they mark the Bicentennial of their country. The time has come to realize that in spite of the complexities that have crept into American life since its pioneer days, citizens are still free from serfdom. Americans may still enjoy political independence. There are no restrictions on the right of each person to profit from his labor and to succeed or fail by the choices he makes.

He can still hold his head high and say with one of Laura Ingalls Wilders characters, "We eat when we get hungry — that's an advantage." If we got out of America such simple freedom from want, we would still have much.

DETECTIVE PROMOTED

Daly City Police Chief David A. Hansen (right) last week announced promotion of Detective Terry Hanebeck (left) to the rank of police sergeant. Sgt. Hanebeck has been with the department for some six years and is a much decorated officer. He started as a police cadet and was sworn in as a police officer on his 21st birthday. Hanebeck was believed to be the youngest sworn police officer in the state. Chief Hansen said Hanebeck has compiled an impressive record of solved cases and arrests of felons.

Transit District, Cities Sign Pact

Execution of a joint powers agreement between the San Mateo County Transit District and 11 municipalities operating transit service was authorized Wednesday night by the district board of directors.

The agreement is essential in that the district is the only public agency within the county entitled to make applications for and to receive funds from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission.

The agreement applies to cities which were providing or were planning to provide local bus service prior to formation of the transit district last Jan. 1. Included are Belmont, Brisbane, Burlingame, Foster City, Menlo Park, Millbrae, Pacifica, Redwood City, San Bruno, San Carlos, San Mateo and South San Francisco.

Directors decided at the meeting to go to bid for liability insurance rather than contract directly through the Independent Insurance Agents Association of San Mateo County.

The administrative staff was directed to prepare specifications as to the district's insurance needs and to submit them to the board for action within 60 days.

The board split 4 to 3 in approving a proposal to hold alternate meetings at various county locations. It was agreed to try the plan for a three-month period.

Meetings will be rotated on a monthly basis among the cities of Menlo Park, Pacifica, San Bruno, Burlingame and Half Moon Bay.

Director Robert Norris protested it is "too early to move from one city to another."

The district still is in the formulation stage, he said, asserting that it would be "best to stay close at home (Redwood City) until details require us to move out."

Director Aubrey Lumley concurred, contending that as a countywide, independent body, it would create confusion to move meetings around. However, the majority voted for the trial plan. Directors William H. Royer and Robert A. Jones were not present to participate in the vote.

Consideration of a request by Redwood City that it be permitted to extend its local bus service to the Port of Redwood City was continued until the city can make a survey of firms at the port to determine how many employes would use the bus service.

DC Police Probing Shooting Incident

A 20-year-old airman stationed at Travis Air Force Base was reported in satisfactory condition June 26 after being shot Wednesday during an argument over another airman's wife, Daly City police report.

The shooting involves Airman 1/c Ted Sevilla, 20, Airman 1/c Orlando G. Sullero, 18, Mrs. Sullero and Jeffrey M. Truax, 25, a relative of Mrs. Sullero.

According to police, Sullero was visiting Truax, a cook at San Francisco International Airport, at 728 Skyline Drive, Daly City when Sevilla drove up with Mrs. Sullero about 7:30 p.m.

During an argument among those involved a .32-caliber handgun was produced and shots allegedly were fired at Sevilla as he sped off in his car, police said.

Truax and Sullero pursued the victim in another car and forced Sevilla to a stop at the corner of Oceanside and Menlo avenues — about a block from Truax' home, police said.

Investigating officers Peter Salvi and detective Dennis Prator reported Sevilla was again allegedly shot at after his car was stopped.

At least one bullet struck Sevilla in the back, police said.

Jury Selection Method Okayed

Visiting Superior Court Judge Robert D. Carter ruled Friday that there was no evidence of discrimination on the part of San Mateo County superior court judges in nominating Grand Jury panels.

In fact, Carter said, "It would appear to me that there is an attempt to pick a truly broad cross section of grand jurors in this county, and the judges start months and months before the (final) selection process."

The claim that the grand jury was constitutionally discriminatory based on several race, sex and age grounds was brought by attorney Norton Tooby, representing one of four persons indicted earlier this year on charges of killing a San Francisco man and woman last July near Hillsborough.

"The law doesn't require an exact ratio, it prohibits deliberate exclusion of a cognizable class," Judge Carter told Tooby after the lawyer produced statistics showing that 10 Spanish surnamed persons had been nominated during the past five years. That represented about 6 per cent compared with the 10 per cent Spanish-surnamed people residing in San Mateo County, Tooby said.

"There's no doubt that there is no evidence that the nominating judges were not aware of all of the cognizable classes of San Mateo County," Carter said.

Tooby also challenged the grand jury on the basis of age because none of the 30 nominess for the 1974-75 grand jury were under 35.

Judge Carter noted that County Superior Court Judge Robert E. Gerey testified earlier this week that three persons under 30 were considered, but that two were elected to public office and the third went off to school.

"You must show a calculated and systematic exclusion, and I don't find that," Judge Carter told Tooby.

The judge told Tooby that his statistics reinforced that the judges are attempting to nominate a broad spectrum of persons and backgrounds.

The case involves four black persons, three men and one woman, arrested on two counts of murder and two counts of kidnaping each during or after the trial of Ronald O. Haynes in April. He was convicted of Defendants are Alfreda Jackson, 25, Jonathon Franks, 26, and Paul LeBlanc, 44, all of San Francisco, and DeWitt Nunery, 25, of Daly City. Prosecutor Stanley B. Poling is seeking the death penalty against LeBlanc, alleging that he was the triggerman in the deaths of Gerald Humphrey, 19, and Sandra Mogardo, 18.

Petition Will Urge Extension

South San Francisco dentist Charles H. Bona told that city's planning commissioners Tuesday night that he will initiate a petition urging the extension of Grand Avenue from Mission Road west to El Camino Real.

The commissioners, after studying Dr. Bona's request to extend Grand Avenue, as well as four other possible means of providing a connection between Mission Road and El Camino Real, decided against the Grand Avenue proposal. They said the extension would go through the Kaiser Hospital parking lot which could prove to be an expensive move.

The commissioners instead instructed City Planner David Hale to come back with more details regarding two other alternatives — extending Sequoia Avenue or making a "T" intersection at Mission between Evergreen and Sequoia.

City Engineer Bob Yee cautioned that the "T" proposal would create two intersections (Sequoia would be just a few hundred yards away) within close proximity that would also pose a problem of left turns onto Sequoia.

Yee also stressed, "We're talking about a potential project. We may never build it." The commissioners were merely setting a "plan line" that would indicate future intent of providing an extension," Yee added.

Dr. Bona, meanwhile, was adamant in his desire to have the Grand Avenue extension. It would pass near by his offices at 1131 Mission Road.

He presented the commissioners with a history going back two decades indicating that the Grand Avenue extension had been proposed to go through to El Camino Real.

According to Dr. Bona, he and some of his colleagues moved their medical offices from the downtown area to the more remote Mission Road site in anticipation that Grand Avenue would be extended.

His research, he said, also showed that a preliminary plan of the Kaiser facility showed use of the Grand Avenue extension, adding he realized Kaiser now was the "main obstacle" in the extension proposal. "I can appreciate that," he said.

Dr. Bona said he's had indications fromn sources at the nearby North County Courthouse and North County Public Health facility that they, as do occupants of his medical facility, "feel isolated."

"I feel very strongly Grand Avenue should be extended," Dr. Bona said. "The business community would seem to have a vested interest too. Rather than a legal hassle, my alternative is to go to the people with a petition to elicit response."

Gas Posting Law Okay By County

An ordinance requiring service stations in unincorporated areas of San Mateo County to post gasoline prices was adopted Tuesday by Supervisors.

Supervisor Jean Fassler said she hoped that the county's action would serve as a catalyst for cities in the county to pass the same ordinance.

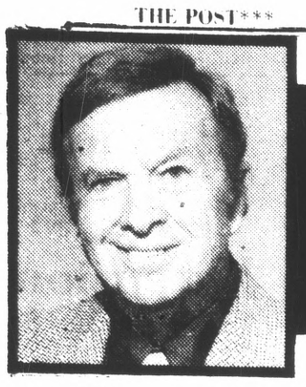

In fact, she noted that about two-thirds of the cities have deferred action on ordinances pending notification of a board policy for unincorporated areas.

The board's action effects very few stations since most of them are located in city boundaries. An exact number was not reported.

County Mngr. M. D. Tarshes said that the cities of Colma, Daly City, San Carlos and Woodside are the only ones which have voted not to adopt an ordinance.

Burlingame was the only city listed by Tarshes as having indicated a general concurrence with the principle of the county's ordinance. There are no service stations in Atherton or Hillsborough.

The new law, which if violated could result in a $500 fine or six months in county jail or both, was supported by the San Mateo County Citizens Action League.

Former Priest Wants to Teach

By JANET PARKER

James Kavanaugh wants to teach at a college.

He wouldn't be any different from other prospective teachers except that he has three doctorates and has authored 14 books, including a best seller which shook the foundations of the Catholic community.

He can't, however, teach at Skyline College in San Bruno.

Kavanaugh, who wrote the best-seller "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church" a few years ago and subsequently resigned from the priesthood. He recently requested a teaching position at the community college.

The controversial ex-priest volunteered his services free. Any monies received were to go into a scholarship fund for minority students.

Skyline's response?

Kavanaugh received a form letter signed by Dr. R. J. Melone, dean of instruction, saying: "Thank-you for your letter expressing an interest in employment at Skyline College. There are no positions open at the present time in your particular field."

"I think the thing is humorous in a sense," said Kavanaugh, who now owns a South San Francisco business called American Home Services.

"I enjoy teaching and I like being with students," he said. The well-known author has given lectures and seminars across the country.

Although he previously taught part-time, this is the first time he has offered his services as a donation to a college.

He suggested he could teach psychological freedom of creative expression.

Kavanaugh, who recently moved to San Francisco from Southern California, said he "thought it would be nice to plug into a college close to home."

So, pointing out his doctorate in psychology from U.S. International University in San Diego, his doctorate from Catholic University in Washington, his doctorate in theology from St. John's University in Detroit, and numerous other degrees, he wrote a letter to Skyline.

Dr. Melone since has accepted a position at another college but an instruction office secretary said the application came at a time of year "when everything is done in haste."

"They just shuffle those kinds of things through as quickly as possible," she said.

The secretary said requests for teaching applications are distributed from the instruction office to division chairmen.

"As it happens, late in the year there are a large number of applications," said Gus Petropoulos, philosophy division chairman. "Where there are positions open, we like to concentrate on those applications."

"We usually ask the instruction office to hold back on all other applications and they are sent the letter from that office."

Petropoulos said he had not seen the letter from Kavanaugh until after Skyline's letter was sent.

The secretary said there are no openings in the philosophy department at this time, although the application could have been transferred to Canada College or College of San Mateo, also in the San Mateo Community College District.

There are three philosophy teachers at Skyline and that field is probably the one in which Kavanaugh could have received his credential from the state, the secretary said.

Petropoulos said there are more than 5,000 applications for teaching positions at the college a year. As many as 50 or 100 are processed in the instruction office and answered by form letter every processing day.

And, he said, it is not unusual for an individual to offer to teach for free in order to gain experience.

The chairman said there could be some legal questions if a student obtained credit for a course in which the instructor was not paid.

"We're not trying to snub him," Petropoulos said. "I question if we would have anything for him."

Kavanaugh said money could best be used by minority students.

"I run a business now and I'm more conscious of people's financial needs. I have enough money. I don't need anymore."

The ex-priest said he decided to apply at the college when he was there seeking part-time help for his SSF business.

Kavanaugh since has been in contact with J. F. Kennedy College in Martinez and may begin teaching a class there.

Beach Slaying Verdict

Clarence Ferguson, 34, formerly of South San Francisco, was found guilty Thursday of first degree murder in the Ocean Beach slaying of a young hitchhiker last January.

A Superior Court jury of three men and nine women returned the verdict in San Francisco after about 10 hours of deliberations over two days.

Ferguson also was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon against the slain girl's friend who survived the attack on the young woman.

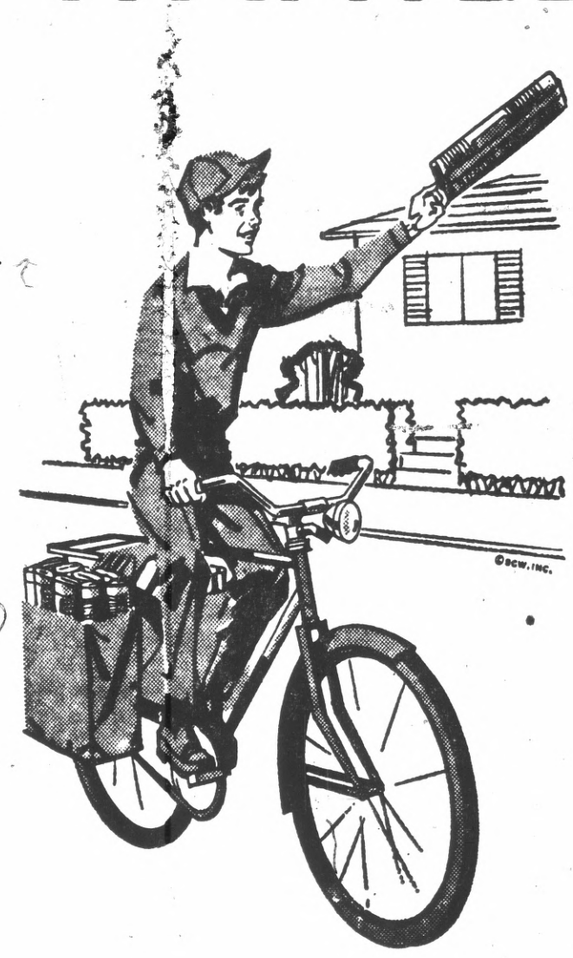

Janet Rogers, 20, was killed by a shotgun blast to the head. Her companion, Julia Kehling, also 20, was shot but played dead until the killer left the beach area. She was the state's major witness in the case. Both were visiting from Ohio.

The same jury also found Ferguson guilty of being a felon in possession of a firearm. Ferguson had served a prison term in Los Angeles for burglary.

Superior Court judge Edward Cragen set July 17 for sentencing.

SSF Girl Sets U.S. Javelin Record

Special to The Post

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. — Cathy Sulinski of South San Francisco set a U.S. age group record in the javelin Wednesday in the finals of the National AAU Junior Women's track and field championships.

Sulinski's throw of 177-3 made her national champion, and earned her a top spot on the U.S. squad that will meet the Russian national junior team July 4-5 at Lincoln, Neb.

The throw was just one yard short of the Olympic qualifying standard. She made it on her last effort of the day.

"My throws didn't feel right," she said. "I hadn't been dropping my left shoulder. On the last throw I just let one go and I could feel my shoulder drop." She was already leading at that point.

Sulinski's Millbrae Lions Track Club teammate, Karen Elmore, will be the top women's long jumper facing the Russians.

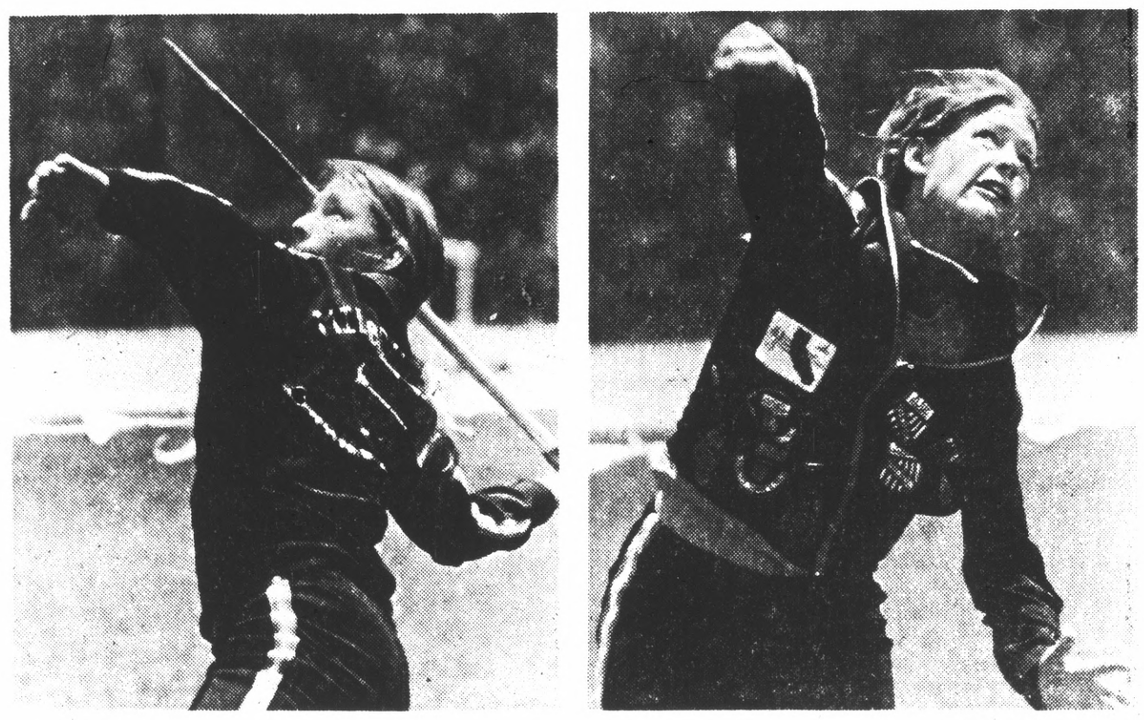

Elmore jumped 19-5½ Wednesday to finish second. But the event winner was 19 years old, and the cutoff age for the Russian team is 18, so the U.S. will follow suit.

"I hurt my left leg practicing the relay last Saturday," said Elmore. "It was real tight Monday after that long plane ride. It bothered me Tuesday, and it was really hurting me in the finals." Elmore was in third at 18-10 until her final jump.

The Lions 440 relay team of Elmore, Denise Pemberton, Yolanda Allen and Elaine Parker had tied the national record of 46.6 in Tuesday's trials.

They lowered that time to 46.4 in Wednesday's finals, but finished second to a strong Tennessee State quartet, which wrote a new record with a 45.8 clocking.

Chris Sakelarios of Redwood City finished sixth in the 1,500-meter race walking finals.

CHAMPION IN THE MAKING

Cathy Sulinski of South San Francisco shown competing in the California AAU women's championships late last month at College of San Mateo. She won that title with a 168-1 throw; Wednesday she set a national age group record of 177-3 in White Plains, N.Y.

Both Elmore and Sulinski are already veterans of international competition. They faced the Russians last year as well; Sulinski finished third behind two Russian girls.

They now enter the AAU senior women's meet here Friday and Saturday, along with several other Lions — shot putter Cel Rutledge, sprinter Carol Parker from Oceana High and javelin thrower Lynn Cannon from Chico State.

Kathy Schmidt and Cannon are the top javelin throwers in the U.S. Lions coach Ed Parker estimates Sulinski's 177-3 ranks her "somewhere between fourth and sixth."

Sulinski started her track career as a long jumper and hurdler. "She showed tremendous promise," said Parker. "She was jumping 18 feet as a 13-year-old. But she suffered a fracture.

"We noticed that she'd been pretty good in the baseball throw; she had a good arm, so we thought we'd try the javelin."

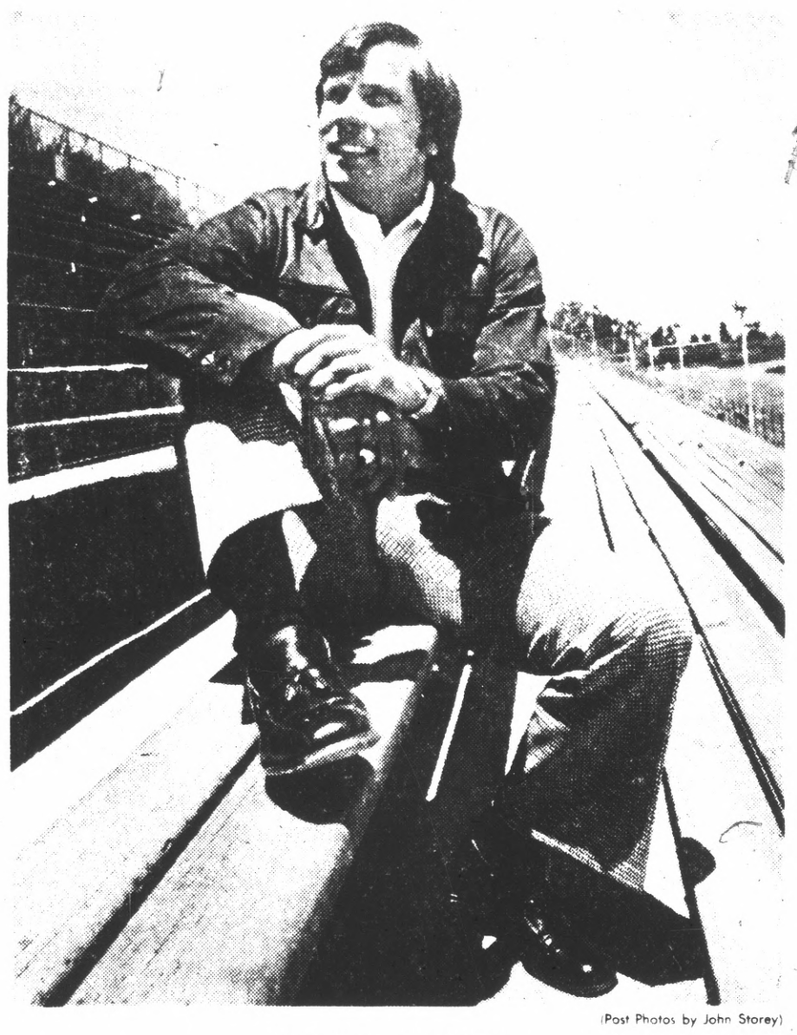

She's only been throwing the javelin for three years; she hopes to have reached the 200-foot range by the time the 1980 Olympics roll around.

A total of 12 American records were set Wednesday. Another seven meet marks were established. Tennessee State's Tiger Belles won the team championship.

Robin Campbell of Sports International broke the meet record in the 400 meter run with a 53.6 time. Mary Decker of Lakewood, who had been optimistic about a comeback from leg injuries in a meet earlier this month at College of San Mateo, finished dead last in a field of six in 55.3.

Back Home Again

Dickey's Return to CSM Official

(Post Photos by John Storey)

BACK ON CAMPUS

Former CSM football coach Bill Dickey was back on his old home field Wednesday, taking a break from teaching summer school classes. Dickey will once again take charge of the Bulldogs this fall.

For Bill Dickey, all roads seem to lead to College of San Mateo.

Dickey was a JC All-American football guard at CSM who returned to the school after his collegiate playing career to become head coach.

He departed again for coaching positions at four-year schools — and now he's back at his alma mater, again as head football coach.

He was reappointed to the position Wednesday night by the district's board of trustees, filling a vacancy left when Steve Shafer left this spring for a position at San Diego State University.

"He's a fine, dedicated coach and physical education instructor," said CSM Athletic Director Cliff Giffin.

When Shafer announced his resignation this spring Dickey, then coach at Utah State, let it be known that he'd like to come back. His former colleagues wanted him back. But it wasn't that easy.

The school was swamped with applications — but some hopefuls nearly gave up when they learned of Dickey's interest, figuring Dickey would have the job sewn up. He didn't.

The school had to go through the Affirmative Action hiring process, which in part is designed to guarantee fair consideration to minority applicants. Athletic department personnel made up only part of the screening committee, and the field was wide open.

Giffin emphasized that Dickey was reappointed only after rigorous scrutiny, and over other highly qualified candidates. "His former association with the college brought him no preferential treatment from our screening committee," said Giffin. "He won the position on his merits, which we felt were the very highest."

"One thing in Bill's favor was that he was not only a highly qualified football coach, but also one of the best physical education teachers we ever had," said wrestling coach Jim Jacques. "People forget the positions involves perhaps two-thirds teaching and one-third coaching."

Dickey himself was enthusiastic about his return. "I've missed the community college football scene ever since I went into four-year schools," he said. "There's an enthusiasm in the students at this level that appeals to me very much.

"They're just beginning to get their bodies and minds into condition, and it's exciting to be there when it's just beginning."

Dickey attended South San Francisco High and then was named JC All-American guard while playing under Doug Scovill, who is now with the 49ers. Dickey then attended Utah State and was team captain under then head coach John Ralston.

After graduation, Dickey coached high school ball briefly before coming to CSM as an assistant. He was head coach from 1968 through 1970, and guided the Bulldogs to a Golden Gate Conference title in 1969.

Dickey left CSM to take a position under Ralston at Stanford in 1971. When Ralston left for the Denver Broncos of the NFL, Dickey moved to Cal under another Stanford associate, Mike White, in 1972. From there Dickey went to Utah State.

'How Times Have Changed'

"How Times Have Changed," or "When Horace Stoneham Was Tough (or was allowed to be) and Not All That Paternal":

In 1946, a gentleman millionaire from south of the border named Jorge Pasquel decided to start his own private third major league and stock it, at least in part, with American players. Much as the World Football League was to do years later, he raided big league teams by offering what were then fabulous contracts to their players.

He managed to snare such names as Mickey Owens from Brooklyn (he was defecting for $12,500 and an undisclosed contract), Max Lanier from St. Louis and Sal Maglie from the Giants. The league flopped, and all players who had jumped were allowed back into "organized baseball" several years later, after initially being "banned for life."

The Giants were one of the hardest hit teams, even though they lost mainly second line players, but Stoneham didn't take kindly to the traitors. Thus, Stoneham fired three players, only two of whom had been negotiating with Mexican League officials and hadn't signed contracts. They were second baseman George Hausmann, reserve first baseman Roy Zimmerman, and Maglie.

It was clearly a purge which occurred during a clubhouse meeting. The meeting had been called after it was learned that Maglie had indeed signed a contract. Stoneham and manager Mel Ott got their players together, so the story goes, and went down the player roster, asking who had been negotiating. When Hausmann and Zimmerman manfully admitted such, they were fired on the spot, as Stoneham curtly announced, "You are no longer Giants."

He also told them that they were removed from the hotel list, as of that moment, and concluded, "I don't want to see you around the clubhouse again."

"We don't want any players on this club," Horace informed the rest of the boys, "who are negotiating with an outlaw league when you already have signed with the Giants."

Then Horace took a last look around the room to note if there were any further confessions, and told Hausmann and Zimmerman, "I wish you luck and I hope you get your money." And then he strode out of the room.

It was later revealed that Hausmann and Zimmerman indeed had already reached terms with Pasquel, but that they hadn't definitely decided if they would leave the Giants. Horace had made their minds up for them.

At the time, Hausmann was drawing $8,000 from the Giants, Zimmerman $6,000. Pasquel had offered to double their salaries, and throw in a $5,000 bonus and $1,000 for expenses for each. It is not recorded whether they ever did, indeed, "get their money."

IT MAY BE LITTLE consolation to Stoneham, but the Giants are still one of the better road draws on the NL tour. If you have by now noted that the Giants currently are without power hitters of any number, don't look to the future, at least not to the Giant farm system. There is not one genuine power hitter currently on their top farm club in Phoenix. There are several players among the leading percentage hitters, but none in the long-ball race.

But then the Giants aren't That bad off, and San Francisco fans have the experience of having gone through plenty of powerless seasons with the old Seals, especially when they were hitting in spacious Seals Stadium. In 1945, for example, the entire team hit only 20 homers. The leaders were third baseman Ray (Little Buffalo) Perry and outfielder Willie Enos, both of whom crashed five, and ironically, both of whom were little guys. Even the pennant winning Seals of '46, who led the league in runs scored, hit only 32 round-trippers. Ferris Fain was the leader, with 11.

But then the Seals hit in a gigantic park.

College Trustees Review Master Plan

The trustees of the San Mateo Community College District recently received a voluminous set of recommendations from a special district committee devoted to master planning.

This week, the trustees began to consider ways to begin implementing portions of the master plan.

On Wednesday evening at the College of San Mateo, the members of the district board took a look at an administration recommendation to install a new director of community services.

Such a person would coordinate the community services and adult school offerings at all three of the district's campuses.

In accordance with the master plan, which has urged the district to become more centralized, the new position would presumably eliminate duplication of classes and programs and keep a tighter rein on budgetary matters.

Community services have been a focus of attention for the board for several years. The trustees — and the administration — have had a difficult time getting a grasp on the real cost of those courses and programs at the three schools.

As of Wednesday, however, that picture began to get somewhat clearer.

State laws have mandated that community college districts spend their special community services tax monies (up to five cents per $100 of assessed valuation) only on courses and endeavors which could not be financed legitimately out of the regular operating budget.

Because of a recalculation along those technical lines, the San Mateo administration has recommended that $703,000 be spent through the community services tax in 1975-76. That represents a drop of over $125,000 from the current budget. The tax rate of 2½ cents would remain the same, however.

Trustee Francis Pearson is worried that, if the district's assessed valuation rises by more than the predicted 9 to 10 per cent, there is a possibility that less than 2½ cents might be used.

Pearson, in fact, predicted that AV will increase countywide by more than 15 per cent, perhaps as much as 20 per cent. If that happens, chances are good that the 2½-cent figure will be pared down.

Also on the 1975-76 budget, the board approved a preliminary document worth over $30.5 million. The trustees did that this morning during an adjourned board session at CSM. Final action won't be taken on this budget until August.

The projected tax rate, including the questionable community services figure of 2½ cents, totalled 73 cents per $100 of AV, 0.28 cents above the present rate.

In other matters, the trustees:

- Listened to another plea to establish child care centers at the three campuses. This issue has been festering in the district for a year but the board has remained adamant that it will not raise taxes to support such a new program, regardless of its merits.
- Learned that a comparison of spring enrollments between this year and last shows a big leap in student numbers in the district. Overall, full-time students increased by over 7 per cent during that period. In terms of total enrollment, both full-time and part-time, there were 29,705 students taking courses in the district this spring. The two biggest increases were noted at Skyline College in San Bruno and Canada College in Redwood City. Skyline showed a 30.5 per cent boost in its evening division students. Canada had a 29.2 increase in its day division.

Parking Fees for BART

Bay Area Rapid Transit District Directors gave commuters using the Daly City BART station a double-barreled blast Thursday — they raised fares and voted to charge a 50-cent parking fee at the station.

There had been talk of establishing a parking rate at the Daly City station for several months.

And the decision to put a surcharge on passengers crossing the county line into San Mateo also was predictable, some city officials said.

Projected deficits in the 75-mile transit system rose to $12.9 million for 1975-76 budget years, according to reports.

The board's actions would slice this deficit figure by half. BART vice president Elmer Cooper predicted.

Plans to expand the system into night and weekend service were shelved. And it was also decided to lay off about 100 employes, mostly trainees who were preparing to take over the expanded schedules.

The Board instructed the staff to study its recommendations that the maximum fares between Concord and Daly City be raised from $1.55—up 30 cents.

It was expected the board would ask this fare go higher, perhaps an additional 15 cents, for Daly City passengers.

Nine BART parking lots — in Daly City, Hayward, Orinda, Lafayette, Concord, Fremont, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill and south Hayward — will begin charging a 50-cent parking fee in November.

BART has 26 parking lots at its stations around the Bay Area.

Of this number, 10 are constantly filled to capacity, BART says.

A survey by BART staff disclosed that some parkers are not riding BART trains.

Those stations whose parking lots are not at capacity will charge 25 cents.

Meanwhile, construction on a multi-level parking facility at the Daly City station, along with new traffic routes, is expected to get under way in August, with a completion date for late 1976.

During this period, Daly City will operate a small 250 space parking lot within a block of the station.

City Manager David Rowe said this small lot will handle the overload created by disruption of the main parking lot during construction.

Funds for Youth Jobs In Summer

More than 1,000 economically disadvantaged youths in San Mateo County will have jobs this summer funded by a bill signed by President Ford this week.

The bill provides $473 million to give summer jobs to 840,000 young people throughout the country.

A spokesman said San Mateo County officials had anticipated the federal funding for the summer job program which the county has administered for the past several years.

Youths in San Mateo County have already been recruited to fill the jobs.

The program is locally coordinated by the Economic Opportunity Commission and administered by the San Mateo County Board of Education.

The program will provide nine to 12 weeks of work, at 26 hours a week and pay a minimum of $2.10 an hour to youths aged 14 to 22.

The jobs, under programs administered by 433 state and local government agencies, are to be the type not normally filled by full-time employes.

Members of the Daly City Friends of the Library are getting excited as the completion date for the Serramonte branch of the library nears, according to Mrs. Virginia Tierney, the publicity chairman of the "Friends".

Summer-time means only a slow-down for this active group of volunteers. Work will be continuing throughout July and August on a number of projects, mainly the book fair.

Mrs. Margaret Kincaid, the president, has made several new appointments to the executive board, among those appointments is the new book fair chairman, Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach.

Others selected to the 1975-76 board include Mrs. Joseph Canada, book review chairman; Mrs. Wayne Jarvis, hospitality chairman; Mrs. Michael Dow, membership chairman.

Mrs. Tierney will continue as chairman of the publicity committee.

Mrs. U. R. Kendree will serve as library trustees' liaison officer and John Sullivan, the special services librarian, will serve on the board as library liaison officer.

Mrs. Tierney asked that community persons continue to contribute books, records and sheet music to the group during the summer months so that items may be sorted and priced for the next fair.

THE WESTLAKE Catholic Women and the Daly City Rotary Club have both asked for community support of their fire works booths, in operation until Friday evening.

The Rotary fireworks booth is across from the Westlake Shopping Center, on John Daly Drive, and the Our Lady of Mercy booth is in the Westlake Shopping Center parkside lot, across from the Westlake Bowl on Southgate Avenue.

"ANY Wednesday", the Pacifica Spindrift Players current presentation, will continue its run this weekend in the Oddstad Center, 1050 Crespi Drive.

Mrs. Berneice Olson, the publicity chairman, notes that performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door.

THERE IS still time to enroll your child in the Excelsior Co-Operative Play School program, to begin on Monday at 9 a.m.

The school, formerly the Lake Merced Play School, is now located in the Episcopal Church, 459 Vienna St., San Francisco.

Children, aged 2½ years to 5 years of age may enroll for either 2, 3 or 4 weeks. For more information call Mrs. Mary Squires, 587-8267 or Mrs. Cathy Cashman, 584-4740.

THE LOCAL Friends Outside Chapter, busily preparing for a family camp experience in just three weeks, is requesting that persons with unneeded sleeping bags consider donating the bags for the use for children and their mothers who will be camping in the Santa Cruz mountains beginning July 20.

In addition to sleeping bags, many families will be needing towels, toothpaste and soap for camp. To contribute or to learn more about this program for the children of men in prison call the Friends Outside office, 661-6900.

MRS. CAROL Benkie, the Daly City coordinator for the Parent Child Communication Course, reports that a day time class for Daly City residents is in the works for later this summer.

Persons interested in taking part in the six week course are asked to call Mrs. Benkie (756-5091) and South San Francisco residents may contact John Rasmussen, (589-0858).

The courses are sponsored by the Center for Better Living, 45 Southgate Ave., Daly City. Price per person is $4. For information about the courses taught in Spanish please call the Guadalupe Health Center (755-7740).

MEMBERS OF the Pacifica Fifty-Plus club are asked to mark their calendars for Aug. 23.

Plans call for the annual seniors picnic to be held on that date and President Maral Smith is hoping everyone will reserve the date!

Have a happy, safe Fourth of July!

Station Sparks Pillar of Fire Issue

Planned construction of a new fire station in the Linda Mar area of Pacifica has rekindled dormant promises by the Pillar of Fire Church.

Les Clark, director of community development and services, last week told the city council that with the fire station soon to be built in the area it was desirous that street upgrading be accomplished on an over-all basis from Adobe Drive to Sheila Court. To do this would involve participation by other property owners.

The Pillar of Fire Corp. owns about 65 percent of the unimproved north side of Linda Mar Boulevard and had been granted a use permit in 1971 to build a Christian Day School on condition it improve the street in front of the school. It has yet to do so, according to building official Phil Mayo.

Mayo had recommended there be some agreement worked out to, in effect, form an assessment district which would take in the city, the church property and other private property, and include county participation, to upgrade the entire street.

George Edsell, representing the church, said he had not read Mayo's report.

"We're fully aware of our obligation," (to improve in front of the school)," he said.

According to Edsell, the church "doesn't want to expend funds it doesn't need to" and said it also doesn't want to be the "prime movers" in any assessment district.

"Unless the county is willing to come in on improving the south side of the street, we don't feel we should be obligated to that (Northside improvement) at this time," Edsell said.

Assistant City Engineer Frank Erbacher said he had checked with the county and "their policy is to go along with a local jurisdiction."

Councilman Aubrey Lumley said he would hate to see a partial improvement.

Mayor Stan Farber ordered the matter put over to the first meeting in July to give Edsell an opportunity to study the recommendation and also to allow the city to check the matter out more fully with the county.

No Decision on Corporation Yard Site

The Pacifica City Council June 23 failed to give staff direction to location of a future corporation yard site although there were three proposals before them, all estimated to cost over $2 million including a 5-acre purchase and development costs.

The council did unanimously rule out the suggestion of Mori's Point as a possible site, but got hung up on a 2-2 deadlock over the recommendation of a site in Vallemar near Coast Highway. Mayor Stan Farber put the matter over to the next regular meeting.

Council members Aubrey Lumley and Janice Fulford were voting to authorize staff to pursue the possibility of obtaining the Vallemar site while Mayor Farber and Councilwoman Grace McCarthy voted against it. Councilman Sid Lorvan was absent from the meeting.

The mayor said his main objection was costs involved, but he was also concerned about the entrance and exiting of vehicles onto busy Coast Highway.

Councilwoman McCarthy said it was "a hazardous place" and "valuable for other uses." She suggested more general citizen participation that might possibly lead to other acceptable locations.

Roy Nourse, associate planner, said the staff thinks the sites presented — which also included the Milagra Quarry site — "represented the best assessment of sites available."

Les Clark, director of community development, said "there's not a piece of ground in this town that isn't valuable."

He said his main concern is timing. According to Clark, the present corporation yard at the sewage treatment plant has to be moved when building permits are issued for construction of a secondary treatment facility. This is expected to be sometime next summer.

"We're asking for an indication as a preference for a site so that we can go out and secure an appraisal to have some solid basis for a recommendation," said Clark.

"These costs are first quotes and may not be the bottom offer. We'd like to know what the property is worth." Clark also said a concern was to have the yard centrally located, primarily in the event of a disaster.

Nourse had compiled a report listing the costs. City Manager Don Weidner called "raw gross estimates," after contacting various area realtors for these three top sites noted in an earlier corporation yard study.

According to Nourse, most realtors were hesitant to quote figures. He said figures were obtained in part by checking previous sale attempts.

Nourse priced out the properties on the basis of a five-acre purchase, which the city believes is adequate at this time, and also, in the case of Mori's Point and Milagra Quarry, on total acreage available. He also laid out costs based on a two-phase development.

The Vallemar site, which is a 5-acre site, had an estimated market value (based on four times its assessed valuation) of $94,880, and, according to Nourse, an estimated market value of $325,000. With total development, Nourse estimated the cost to be $2,380,433.

By comparison, a Milagra Quarry five-acre parcel was estimated at $78,663 market value and $90,250 as asking price. The total development cost was estimated at $2,145,623.

"It becomes apparent in reviewing these figures that the site acquisition cost represents only a small portion of the total development cost, and this may diminish the importance of the current variance in the initial site cost," said Nourse. He estimated construction costs to be approximately $40 a square foot.

Councilman Lumley early in the discussion stage said that while there was nothing in writing, there was "a gentleman's agreement" that TeleCommunications, Inc., the cable franchise, had indicated they'd participate in the city on a joint yard. He wanted to pursue that "agreement."

Meanwhile, Fire Chief Cal Hinton said he hopes to have a construction bid for the fire station within a week and to bring it before the council for acceptance.

In other business, the council:

• Authorized widening of Francisco Boulevard between Carmel and Paloma avenues, using city work forces, at a cost in materials estimated at $1,136, to create additional on-street parking.

• Set aside to a joint meeting on Aug. 20 between the Council, the Transporta-

• Put over to the July 2 budget session discussion of the possible purchase of property on the southwest corner of Salada Avenue and Francisco Boulevard. The sale price is $25,000.

• Approved the annual community beautification and clean-up programs to include the beach, San Pedro Creek and other areas by 14-to-18 year-olds and authorized $2,500 in salaries and supplies to fund the seven-week project for 10 youths.

• Announced a 9 a.m., Wednesday meeting at the old railroad station at Pedro Point with representatives of the City, the Chamber of Commerce and the County Harbor District with the intent of viewing the site and again considering the chamber's proposal of a launching facility.

• Voted to participate in the Bay Area Task Force on Quality Maintenance Planning.

• Instructed the Humane Society Animal Control officer to include the city's beaches in his routine patrol through the city to catch stray dogs.

IT'S THE "LITTLE BIT MORE" THAT COUNTS

Certainly, realty is a service business. But we like to think we give you more than just ordinary service. Market evaluation, financing, advertising, negotiating, closing — all that goes without saying, so we strive to give you more. Come in and let us show you how our "little bit more" in effort, courtesy and know-how can give you so much more!

ARE YOU SELF MOTIVATING?
